

Ken Mays is a Boeing Solid State Electronics Development (SSED) Senior RF Design and Technical Lead Engineer. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Electrical Engineering from the University of Idaho, Moscow and an MSEE degree from Portland State University, Portland Oregon. He has over 25 years of experience in process development, MMIC and RFIC designs. He has worked extensively on higher frequency integrated GaAs, GaN, SiGe, CMOS, FDSOI, Passive, and other technologies. Ken has authored and presented conference papers, holds 4 US patents and is an active Senior Member of IEEE where he sits on several technical paper review committees.