

Dr. Thomas is with Boeing Research and Technology developing an AI Enabled RF portfolio targeting adaptable arrays and broadband software defined radios for Satellite and Electronic Warfare applications. His current focus is AI applied to heterogenous integration from design, simulation, and characterization. He currently serves on the IEEE International Microwave Symposium Technical Review Committee for AI ML for RF.